

With the 2011 census less than 18 months away, projections estimate that there will be over 9 million EMG's (ethnic minority groups) residing in the UK. This month we bring you an insight into the value of the Black Caribbean and Black African demographic.

Black History month is celebrated in October and has been a tradition for over 30 years; it is the month where the achievements of the black community are acknowledged by activities that include all areas of arts and entertainment.

Black Caribbean's are the fourth-largest ethnic group in the UK, representing 12.2% of the total UK ethnic population. More than 1 million reside in London alone.

- Estimates show that Black and Asian consumers are likely to earn £156 billion after income tax
- Black and Asian men are amongst the top consumer spenders with £32 billion disposable income
- They are big spenders in digital technology, music and fashion sectors
- Black Caribbean's have the largest proportion of people aged 65 and over (11%) for non-white ethnic groups; this reflects the first large-scale immigration back in the 1950's
- 61% of the Black Caribbean UK population live in London
- After White Irish, Black Caribbean's were most likely to drink in excess of the government recommended guidelines - 37% of Black Caribbean men and 17% of women
